

Razorback Nightcrawler

aka Cragslider

Description

This giant millipede is found only in Black Gulch. In contrast to the artificial creatures roaming The Gutter, the Razorback Nightcrawler is a product of an undisturbed evolution. They are more capable of crushing a careless passerby with their great weight and tremendous power.¹

Location

Black Gulch

Two directly after the first tar pools containing Coal Tar.

Bonfire Intensity	Health	Souls
1	1,600	1,400
2	2,450	2,800
8	4,200	5,600

Cave of the Dead

One before the boss fog gate. Unlike the ones in Black Gulch, this one has more health and is colored black.

Bonfire Intensity	Health	Souls
1	2,200	1,400
2	2,750	2,800
8	5,000	5,600

Weakness

- Average against Strike-Type Attacks
- Weak against Slash-Type Attacks

- Vulnerable against Thrust-Type Attacks

Drops

- Poison Stone - rare
- Dead Again - very rare
- Puzzling Stone Sword (only in Cave of the Dead) - very rare
- Twinkling Titanite (only in Cave of the Dead) - very rare

Attacks

- Hole Lunge - Lunges from the hole across the pathway, potentially knocking the player off.
- Slam - Slams down onto the player.
- Lunge - Lunges forward whilst out of the hole, potentially knocking the player off.
- Sweep - Sweeps across the pathway if the player is to it's sides.

Strategy

- Bait it out from its hole. You can then run toward its base against the wall. It will not be able to reach you from this location. The attacks will either be straight forward, or bend around you during its sweep.

Footnotes 1. Dark Souls II Collector's Edition Guide description

Revision #1

Created 17 December 2024 07:39:04 by jade

Updated 17 December 2024 07:39:04 by jade