

Petrified Egg

In Game Description

*A large petrified egg.
Surely bears no life.*

*Eggs are vessels that harbor life itself,
and symbolize the deepest secrets of existence.
But what does a petrified egg harbor?*

Use

Offer to Magerold of Lanafir to join the Dragon Remnants covenant.

Availability

Acquired from its hidden throne in Dragon Shrine. There will be an NPC invader named Dragonfang Villard who will attempt to stop you.

Notes

- If it's not given to Magerold it will remain in your inventory when going to NG+, making the Dragon Covenant available at an earlier point.
- If it's in your inventory, you'll be unable to use Magerold's services for that game cycle unless you give it to him (he'll keep asking if you give it to him, refusing him ends the dialogue).
- If you hold a Petrified Egg from an earlier game cycle, there won't be one at the Dragon Shrine even if you put the older one in your Bottomless Box. However, if you give your older Petrified Egg to Magerold, a new one will spawn at the usual spot. You can't give a second Petrified Egg to Magerold in the same game cycle.
- Taking the egg from the shrine does not aggro the Dragon Knights.

